G.O.P. SPENDING $3,442,892 IN HARDING CAMPAIGN

Senate Committee Is Notified of Election Expenditures

FAR EXCEED BUDGET SET

Over Three Millions of Fund Is Already Expended

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The Republican national committee's campaign to elect Senator Warren G. Harding president will cost $3,442,892.32, Fred W. Upham, national treasurer of the party, notified the senate committee appointed to investigate campaign expenditures in a report filed with the committee here today.

Of this sum, $3,042,892.32 had been spent up to the close of business Sunday, October 24, and Mr. Upham estimated the expenditures in the closing week of the campaign at $400,000 additional. The report shows that $261,258.86 was spent between October 18, when a report was filed with the clerk of the house of representatives in Washington and October 24, the date of today's report.

The total estimated cost of the campaign—$3,442,892.32—is considerably in excess of the Republican budget of $3,015,937.32 presented to the senate committee at a hearing here last August, but Mr. Upham explained that the disbursements covered the period from June 11 while the budget included only expenditures from July 1. About $200,000 was spent between June 14 and July 1, Mr. Upham's office estimated, leaving the estimated disbursements from July 1 to November 2 approximately $3,242,000, about $162,000 in excess of the estimated budget.

In Excess of Receipts.

Contributions received since June 14 total $2,914,706.08, or $128,138.24 less than the amount expended, Mr. Upham's report shows. Of the amount collected $1,793,556.54 was devoted directly to the national campaign under the direction of the national committee. The remaining $1,121,149.54 was returned to the states in which it was raised, in accordance with an agreement whereby the national committee solicited all funds for both state and national campaign purposes.

Since Mr. Upham presented his last report to the state committee here August 30, in which he showed 12 contributions exceeding the $1,000 limit laid down by Chairman Will Hays, there have been 16 more such contributions from individuals and two from clubs, today's report shows. The eighteen donations total $52,470.50 and include: Harding-Coolidge Club, Tulsa, Okla., $10,000; Hamilton Club, Chicago, $4,128.50, and James B. Smith, San Francisco, $5,000.

In several instances members of the same family have given contributions of $1,000 each. Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Crocker, San Francisco and four other members of the Crocker family and four members of the Spreckels family also of San Francisco are in this class.

Candidates Contribute.

Senator Warren G. Harding and Governor Calvin Coolidge, his running mate each gave $5,000, as did Fred W. Upham, the Republican national treasurer, and Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, brother of ex-President Taft. There are several hundred $1,000 contributions.

Mr. Upham's office estimated there were approximately 50,000 contributors to the campaign chest. The smallest contributions listed are of 25 cents. There are thousands of 25, 50, 75 cent and $1 donations. Eleven Chicago women gave 62 cents each; why, no one in Mr. Upham's office knew.

With his report Mr. Upham filed a sworn affidavit answering written requests by the senatorial committee. The affidavit sets forth that the "amount to be expended by the national committee for the further purposes of the campaign does not exceed the sum of $400,000, which is the aggregate sum unexpended of the appropriation provided for in the budget of the committee."

To Continue Campaign

The report shows no pledges to make up any deficit that may exist after the election, but the affidavit states that "the committee does, however, contemplate the continuation of its campaign for funds with which to discharge its unpaid debts."

Answering the committee question "is there any agreement pertaining to the underwriting of obligations which may be hereafter incurred by the committee, or any of its officers or agents?" The treasurer said there was none.

In response to another question, he said:

"I know of no committee, associations, organizations or individuals who are contributing or who have promised or agreed to contribute to the financial aid and prosecution of the campaign for the election of a president, vice president or members of the United States senate, or of the house of representatives other than the Republican national committee, the national senatorial committee, the national congressional committee and the individuals who have contributed to the national committee, and whose contributions have been detailed in the accounts heretofore filed, except the regularly organized committees of the party within the various states."

Jews in Galicia Recognize Poland

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—The Jews of East Galicia, who have been vigorous opponents of Polish rule in the provinces, have recognized Polish sovereignty, according to a statement issued today by the Polish information bureau, quoting advices received from the Polish foreign office in Warsaw.

At a meeting recently held in Tarnopol of representatives of all the East Galician Jewish parties, it was proposed to call a general conference of East Galician Jews to bring about a final union with Poland

HARDING AGAIN STATES FAITH IN ASSOCIATION

Reiterates Challenge to Finds Flaws in Statements

Not President Unless Congress Is Made Republican

AKRON, O., Oct. 28.—Renewing his challenge to Democratic leaders to show any inconsistency or change of position in his utterances on the League issue, Senator Harding declared in a speech tonight that he had stood unfailingly against accepting membership in the Versailles league but in favor of an international association founded on principles of justice.

The Republican nominee also reiterated his faith in party government, and asserted that he did not desire to be President unless a Republican Congress was also elected to translate Republican plans into performance. He made a special plea for a Republican Senate, declaring the nation owed to the present Senate a debt of gratitude that never could be paid. Charges of a "senate oligarchy", he pronounced as entirely false.

In stating his position on the League, Mr. Harding declared he had voted for ratification with reservations because that was the only way the Senate could deal with the problem as it was presented by the President. He outlined the argument in favor of the reservations on mandates, withdrawal and article ten, and said that all the Republican qualifications had been designed "to limit our obligations, not to make them clearer."

Could Not Send Army.

The President's proposal for a mandate over Armenia, the candidate asserted, had shown in striking fashion the wisdom of the Republican reservations. He added that although the United States sympathized deeply with Armenia, it could not afford to send an army of 70,000 to 100,000 there "after Great Britain and France had taken all the desirable territory bordering on Armenia, leaving to Uncle Sam the starving and oppressed people of Armenia."

Quoting from a British publication which declared the United States was doing more than any other nation in world rehabilitation by its contributions to European relief, the nominee said:

"That is the soul of America. Talk about breaking the heart of the world! America is healing the heart of the world. But even if the heart-breaking tragedy were true, I would rather break the heart of the world than destroy the soul of American nationality."

In his discussion of party government and the League, Senator Harding said:

Completely Republican.

"I know pretty well that the American people are thinking of calling the Republican party back to service in the nation. I have a very strong conviction that you are going to elect a Republican as President of the United States. But I warn you don't do it unless you intend to put the Republican party in power in Congress as well as in the executive office.

"I would not want to be your President unless you are going to give us a Republican Congress to translate Republican promises into legislative enactments. It is very important to have a majority in the United States Senate and you ought always to think of the Senate as saving to you your American liberty. Don't be distressed about the so-called senatorial oligarchy. There isn't any. I think we would have succeeded this year in harmonizing the Senate into a completely useful agent if it had not been for the interference of the chief executive, who was not satisfied with running his own end of Pennsylvania Avenue.

"'Oh!' they say, 'You cannot tell where Harding stands on the League.' Well, let's see if I can tell you where I stand. I am at least entitled to speak for myself. I have been speaking since the 22nd of last July, and I challenge any Democrat in America, high or low, to find a contradiction in anything I have said.

Nothing To Do with League.

"I said in the beginning that we were opposed to an armed military alliance with the old world, and I say it now. I have said frequently, and I say now, that we are never going to have anything to do with a league with article ten in it.

"I have said repeatedly that America does not intend to accept that League. It is true that as a member of the United States Senate I voted to ratify the peace treaty and the League covenant with reservations, but when I voted there were attached to the covenant reservations to safeguard the independence of the United States.

"I have said from July 22 to now, and I repeat it to you, and I know I speak what is in your hearts—America means to play her part in a new relationship among the nations of the world.

"America does not object; she wants an association of nations. America wants to bring the world conscience to common understanding. America wants to turn the light of world opinion on probable controversies or causes of conflict. America wants to join the nations of the world in promoting and preserving peace.

Cannot Run World.

"I have not prescribed the specific thing because I have not yet come into authority. I do not pretend to prescribe the specific thing myself. A one-man covenant is what brought about the failure of the first attempt. I am not the sort of candidate who believes he can run the world. I am going to need help in the United States."

The senator spoke in the armory here before a crowd that packed every available square inch of space and interrupted the address many times with cheering.

Previously, despite a drizzling rain, a torchlight parade had escorted him through downtown streets and crowds that thronged the sidewalks at many points cheered him along the way.

HARDING DECLARES NO CLIQUE BEHIND G.O.P. CANDIDACY

AKRON, Ohio, Oct. 28.—Replying to charges of a "senate oligarchy," Senator Harding declared in a speech tonight that he was not the candidate of any clique or combination, but was absolutely "unpledged" and "unbossed."

No senatorial oligarchy exists, the Republican nominee declared, and no group of men would control him if he were elected to the presidency.

He said the only promises he had made which was not in the party platform was his pledge to try to organize a federal department of public welfare.

"I am not anybody else's candidate," Senator Harding said. "I believe I am the freest man that was ever nominated by any party for the presidency of the United States. I can stand before you tonight and tell you that I am unpledged, and I am un-owned. I am unbossed.

"I haven't made a promise, save one, which isn't in the Republican platform, which is my covenant to the American people. The additional promise is that we're going to try to write the conscience of America into a notable program for social justice in the United States."

STATES STAMPS COUNTERFEITED

Traffic in "Bonded" Whisky Put Under Scrutiny

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Widespread counterfeiting of internal revenue stamps in connection with violation of prohibition laws was disclosed tonight when the bureau of internal revenue issued a warning against "bootlegging in bonded whisky." The country is being flooded, Commissioner Williams said, with whisky labeled "bottled in bond" which bore spurious tax stamps.

Mr. Williams said that the fact that the bottles bore the tax stamp was no guarantee that the liquor did not contain wood alcohol or some other injurious substance to endow it with the "kick" of whisky manufactured under government inspection. Quantities of whisky bearing name ofs well-known brands, but which was discovered, after chemical analysis, as being "largely prune juice, water and sugar," has been taken in raids.

The counterfeit stamps are coming from many communities. Secret service agents are understood to have run down several engraving establishments engaged in turning them out in wholesale quantities, it was said. Arrests were said to be imminent in this connection.

Federal agents are working on the theory that the counterfeiting is under the direction of an organized gang. Evidence thus far obtained was said to show constant communication between this gang and bootleggers and moonshiners who required fraudulent stamps for their products.

Use of bands or tax stamps on adulterated and smuggled foreign liquors also has been increasing, agents reported.

COX DECLARES POST "UNFAIR"

Says Big Business Is Opposed to His Candidacy

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 28.—Another statement charging the Saturday Evening Post and its editor, George Horace Lorimer, with unfair partisanship was issued today by Governor Cox of Ohio, Democratic presidential candidate.

"The insidious purpose of the Saturday Evening Post, cloaked under nonpartisan methods for the past decade and more, has finally been brought to light," Governor Cox declared, stating that it had made subpoenaes only four days before election when it was impossible to correct them.

That the Curtis Publishing Company had been found guilty by the federal trade commission of violating the antitrust laws by unfair practices in distributing its periodical was asserted by Governor Cox, declaring that "big business" was opposed to him because he would give it a "square deal and nothing more."

RAID BUSINESS SECTION CORK

CORK, Oct. 28.—Since Curfew this morning the military has been active raiding the business district. Papers were seized in the Sinn Fein Club and windows in a nearby curiosity store were broken and the contents thrown into the streets. Banks in the neighborhood also were visited.

Two Soldiers Killed

TIPPERARY, Ireland, Oct. 28.—Two soldiers were shot dead and three wounded when a military lorry was attacked by civilians near Thomastown, about 10 miles southeast of Kilkenny today.

The battle raged half an hour, and it is believed there also were casualties among the civilians.

Civilians Drilling

GLASGOW, Scotland, Oct. 28.—The police surprised a body of civilians doing military drill during a dense fog at 3 o'clock this morning near Bothwell, eight miles southeast of Glasgow. Shots were exchanged and one policeman was wounded seriously. Several civilians were arrested.

This section is a hotbed of extremists, many of whom profess bolshevism and also are Sinn Feiners.

CONFER ON PLAN FOR MARKETING FARM PRODUCTS

Labor Participates With Farmers In Conference

Name Committee to Draw Up Policy to Be Followed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Labor leaders participated today with representatives of farmers in a further conference to devise means of obtaining credits for "the orderly marketing" of farm products. Failure to secure such credits, speakers declared, might result in the inauguration of a general crop holding movement until market prices would provide cost of production and a reasonable profit. A general committee to draw up a policy to be followed by the conference was appointed, with John Tromble of Kansas as chairman, and all the various agricultural interests represented. It went into executive session immediately.

Further conferences might be sought with the Treasury Department and the Federal Reserve Board, it was said, and Congress might be asked for relief if it could not be obtained otherwise.

The conference met on call of the committee appointed by a recent similar gathering to receive the answer of the Federal Reserve Board to the plea for more credits. The statement of the Board was declared by this committee to be unsatisfactory.

Propose German Loan

A loan of a billion dollars by the United States to Germany was one plan laid before the policy committee. William W. Brauer of New York, who asserted that he represented the German government, asked the committee to endorse legislation by Congress authorizing such a loan to Germany. He said the German government was prepared to give such a loan priority over all reparations payments under the Versailles treaty. Property of the German government and the German nationals seized by the alien property custodian and claims arising from the seizure of German shipping would be offered as additional security, Mr. Brauer said. Germany was ready to purchase $200,000,000 of agricultural products immediately, he asserted, on such an extension of credit.

Mr. Brauer said he held a contract with the German government authorizing him to obtain the billion dollar loan and would have sole charge of spending it.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, and William B. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists proposed their co-operation with the farmers in an address.

Mr. Johnson declared that Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, had authorized him to give his support to the efforts to secure credits for the orderly crop marketing.

HOPE TO SETTLE DENVER STRIKE

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 28.—Negotiations between striking miners and operators of two mines in northern Colorado were opened today in an effort to bring about a settlement of the strike begun this district are operating, according to reports.

DENVER, Oct. 28.—Operations in all but four mines in the northern Colorado coal fields ceased this morning as a result of a strike of miners for increased wages and a working agreement, according to reports received here. The four mines operating have unexpired contracts with the United Mine Workers of America. Union officials say 2,000 miners are out.

Two hundred Colorado rangers were given orders yesterday by Governor Shoup and remained under arms last night at Golden on the state rifle range. Governor Shoup's order was issued in a statement in which he characterized the strike as illegal and declared law and order would be maintained.

No disturbances have been reported. Colonel P. J. Hamrock, commander of the Colorado Rangers said rangers would not be ordered into the district unless disorder developed.

During the morning three mines in Boulder county resumed operations, about half of their men reporting for work. These three ordinarily employ about 300 men.

NEW BANK FOR FRESNO; CAPITAL IS $2,000,000

Formal Announcement Will Probably Be Made Today

Business Men in Many Valley Towns to Be Stockholders

Formal announcement of the organization of a new banking institution for Fresno may be expected by the public within the next two or three days, it was learned last night. The new bank will be known as the Valley Bank of Commerce, and it is understood will begin business with bankers from a number of towns tributary to Fresno among its directors. The institution will open with a capital stock of $2,000,000.

Pending the arrival here today of Charles F. Sterns, state superintendent of banks, financiers of the valley who are understood to be among the organizers of the bank felt that any statement by them would be premature, it was learned, however, from authoritative sources that a formal announcement, carrying the names of officers and stockholders might be expected following a conference tomorrow between Stearnes and interests of the new bank.

W. D. Mitchell, president of the First National Bank of Sanger, known as one of the most vigorous and prominent financiers of the San Joaquin valley, is actively identified with the organization of the bank. Prominent business men, the list including bankers, from Reedley, Madera, Sanger, Selma and other towns, it is understood, are included in the list of organizers of the new institution.

The stock, it is understood will be scattered extensively among the directors, one of the efforts of the organizers having been to avoid a "one man bank." It is to be featured as owned and controlled absolutely by bankers and capitalists of the San Joaquin valley.

PROBE ALLEGED BUILDING TRUST

Contractor Declares Agreement Cost Him $1000

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—After another day of sensational testimony, the joint legislative committee investigating the "building trust" late today took an adjournment until November 4.

Developments at today's hearings were:

Testimony by William Waixel, house wrecking contractor, that he paid $1,000 to William P. Brindell, president of the Building trades council, for the privilege of a working agreement with the council. He said he also paid another $1,000 to Brindell for a housewrecking job.

Because he had refused to produce $55,000" for Brindell, Jacob Fradus, a general contractor, testified he had been "bankrupted and put out of business by the labor leader" to whom he declared he had paid $1,000 for a job.

Charles H. Wallin, house wrecker contractor, testified that his $400,000 annual business had "dwindled down to $100 jobs" because he had refused to hire "Brindell's men."

Testimony by Arthur Greenfield, president of the Employing Metallic Furring and Lathing association, that the members of the association at a meeting last Monday destroyed papers that "might incriminate" them in this investigation, including the minutes of the meeting of April 16, at which price-fixing is alleged to have been arranged.

Testimony that a group of metallic lathing contractors, bidding on school contracts for the city of New York, had formed a combine to "get better prices" and stifle competitive bidding.

Mr. Brindell, who was under subpoena, attended the hearing, but was not called to the witness stand, and made no effort to bring before the committee a denial of any of the testimony.

The only witness from the Building Trades council placed on the stand was Roswell D. Tompkins, secretary-treasurer, who was questioned as to the disposal of moneys collected by the organization. He was unable to explain what became of $15,000 paid annually into the conglomeration Bureau's fund.

Failure of Mrs. Greenfield to recall what was contained in the papers destroyed by the Employing Metallic Furring and Lathing Association brought a warning from Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, that the witness was liable for perjury if he made any false statements before the committee.

Greenfield testified employers had held the meeting at the request of John Taggert, business agent for the Lathers' Union, and that it had been addressed by a "Mr. Kelly" of the Building Trades Employers' Association, who had told them to "stand pat and stand together" if called into the investigation.

Refuses Request to Suspend Ginning

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 28.—Governor Cooper today refused the request of the South Carolina branch of the American Cotton Association, which yesterday asked him to issue a proclamation calling on cotton ginners to suspend operations until the price of cotton advances. The governor said he had no authority to order such a suspension.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—Germany must deliver 275,000 tons of shipping to the Allies as compensation for the sinking of the German fleet in Scapa Flow, the reparations commission decided today.

Big States, Harding Women Uncertain League to Forefront

By DAVID LAWRENCE

COPYRIGHT, 1920

The coalition of the West and South which gave Woodrow Wilson his victory in 1916 was a new combination of electoral votes. Previously the big eastern states, New York, New Jersey, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois together with New England were sufficient to tell everybody on election night that the race was over.

The big question this year is whether there is any combination of votes whereby Governor Cox can win the presidency. Senator Harding has been picked by most everybody to win chiefly because of the traditional habit of America to change administration every few years. But the Democrats have managed to force the League of Nations to the front as an issue with remarkable success in the last few days and any calculations made by the writer or anybody else as early as October 1 are necessarily subject to revision at the last moment.

When this correspondent visited every state west of the Mississippi with one or two exceptions, he reported after an investigation of thirty days that there were only a few states—Utah, Montana and Nevada—wherein the Democratic nominee for the presidency had a good chance. In order to determine whether these states are still safe for Cox and whether any others have been added to the list, the writer has sent wires to almost every man in the west in whose judgment he can place reliance and has asked that the replies be sent in a specified code so that men working on democratic newspapers or in the Democrat organizations or those employed in the Republican camp would have no hesitancy in expressing over the telegraph wire their own confidential and innermost judgment. These wires are coming in and the results will be embodied in tomorrow's dispatch.

As for the situation east of the Mississippi river which has been examined in person by the writer in the last thirty days, several factors stand out as extraordinary.

First: The heavy registration of women has made it doubtful whether in some states everybody will have a chance to vote in the limited period that the polls are open. On account of the congestion at the polls, especially in states where no provision has been made to handle the crowds, many votes will not be cast at all.

Second: The negro vote in the Northern states is better organized than it has ever been. In some of the border states feeling is altogether pleasant over the way the negroes have been mobilized by the Republicans, and it is not altogether a certainty whether in cases where the Democrats control the election machinery there will be time enough for the negroes to vote, though in certain cities where the Republicans have control just the reverse is apt to be the case, and many whites may not get a chance to vote. The registration, unfortunately, enters into the calculations of certain important state.

Third: The true effect of the enfranchisement of women through out the nation is the most uncertain quantity in the whole situation. Politicians profess to know how the women will vote, but they don't. No political leader in all the states that the writer visited was able to produce a canvass of the feminine vote which could be considered complete. Time and time again the canvass of the masculine vote has been accomplished with such accuracy in advance of the election that result has varied but little from the official result. Most editors and political leaders agree, however, that the women will merely double the Republican and Democratic vote, or increase it by at least 80 per cent. As the husband votes, so votes the wife. That's the theory. Westerners, who have had more experience with woman suffrage for many years, uphold that view, yet in Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Ohio it has been admitted by politicians that perhaps the League of Nations has made more women voters independent of party lines than at first expected. In West Virginia, Indiana, Ohio, New York and New Jersey, there has been a noticeable revival of interest among men and women in the League of Nations, a wider reading of the covenant than was believed possible on a question that has so often been dismissed by the professional politicians as a "dead" issue, or with the statement that the "people are sick and tired of the thing."

Fourth: Another remarkable thing is that while the street talk and club talk and smoking car gossip and newspaper talk has constituted an apparent wave of anti-Wilsonism, the casual mention of the name of Woodrow Wilson in meetings held by the Democrats has not been met with silence or a few scattered hand-claps, but by spontaneous outbursts of applause. The Democrats themselves have been pleasantly surprised by the demonstrations and do not know whether to interpret it as a feeling of sympathy for the man who has broken down in health in his endeavors to serve the people as he thought best, or whether to regard it as a indication of Democratic strength at the polls.

Fifth: The economic situation has had so many puzzling developments in the past three or four weeks. Prices have dropped so materially and unemployment has come so suddenly in many cities that in more than one case suspicion was expressed that the shutdown has something to do with the oft-heard conspiracy of intimidation of labor.

On the other hand in the rural districts the fall in the price of wheat and the general decline of live stock prices has stirred up the tariff issue and made friends for the Republican tariff program. The reader himself has probably noticed that Senator Harding has evidently been told of this sentiment for he has devoted two or three statements to it lately.

Moreover the rising tide of interest in the League of Nations has been met by the Republicans in the last two weeks by campaign speeches from such friends of the league as Herbert Hoover, William H. Taft and Elihu Root. The attack has been against Article Ten and in the east, at least, nobody, including Senator Harding, has sent messages in the last few days to Senator Johnson or Borah telling them they were interpreting the Republican platform correctly. Indeed the restiveness displayed by Wm. R. Hearst, who calls on Governor Cox to repudiate the League and at the same time criticises Harding "for wiggling and wobbling" is another indication of unrest in the camp of the "irreconcilables" and others who favor the projection of the treaty and any League of Nations.

With a growing sentiment in favor of the principle of a League of Nations, there is no question that Senator Harding's speech at Des Moines saying he did not want to clarify obligations but that he was seeking "rejection" has been construed as meaning rejection of the whole league and not article ten alone as his friends insists was his meaning.

However east of the Mississippi river it is the judgment of this correspondent that even the changing of votes at the eleventh hour to Cox from Harding will not enable the Democrats to carry New York, New Jersey, Illinois or Ohio though they have admittedly made progress every day since the Des Moines speech and are daily acquiring the votes of large numbers of women. President Wilson saw the issue of the campaign before any one else in his party and his judgment has been vindicated in the sense that with it the Democrats have been able to make more progress than with anything else. The big question is whether the Democrats have been able to cover up mistakes on domestic administration by the use of the league issue or to put it another way, is the country going to vote on questions of foreign policy to the exclusion of domestic troubles or irritations and restrictions growing out of the war and the reconstruction period? The only place for such independence to be displayed, if it appears at all, is in the West which showed itself able in 1916 to part company with the rock-ribbed Republican East. Can the—West and South win for Cox or is there any other combination partially in the East and partially in the West which could pair yhim to victory? These questions will be answered by an electoral table in tomorrow's article.

(This is the first of a series of three articles forecasting the trend of next Tuesday's electoral vote for President and analyzing the decision of three-fourths of the voters of the United States by the writer during the last two months. Lawrence, Copyright, 1920.)

LEAGUE CLOSES COUNCIL MEET

Danzig Question Is Referred to the Assembly

BRUSSELS, Oct. 28.—(By The Associated Press).—The council of the League of Nations this morning closed its sessions in Brussels after referring the question of Danzig, the regulations concerning which are in dispute between Poland and the authorities of the free city, to the assembly of the league which is to meet at Geneva next month.

The council took other important action in deciding upon a plebiscite as to the disposition of the territory in dispute between Poland and Lithuania this including the line fixed by the supreme council in December, 1919.

A. J. Balfour, the British representative, in making the closing address, declared that four more great powers would become members of the league shortly.

M'SWINEY BODY SENT TO CORK

Relatives Resist When Authorities Attempt Moving Coffin

HOLY HEAD, Wales, Oct. 28.—By The Associated Press)—Relatives of the late Lord-Mayor Macswiney resisted when the authorities started to place the body of the Lord-Mayor on board a boat bound for Cork. After a fight over the coffin however, the body was taken aboard the vessel, which sailed for Cork.

CORK, Oct. 28.—Relatives of the hunger-striking prisoners in Cork jail said today that hope had been abandoned that the government would release the men.

Three of the prisoners, Michael Burke, John Power and Sean Hennessy, are suffering acute pain, but have refused medical treatment.

COX DECLARES NO REASON TO OUST HIS PARTY

Gives Address Aimed at Voters Favoring "a Change"

ASKS PEOPLE SETTLE QUESTION

Hoosier State Has Big Cox Rally of the Campaign

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 28.—Arguments addressed particularly to voters favoring Senator Harding upon the broad, general ground of desiring "a change" in national affairs, were emphasized tonight by Governor Cox.

To a large audience in Tomlinson Hall and in a formal statement, Governor Cox fired a broadside of questions to the American people, attacking Senator Harding and other Republican leaders for their League of Nations, legislative and political records.

"Republicans, when they are honest", Governor Cox declared, "have acknowledged what is patent to everyone—that no one really wants Senator Harding for President, and yet they tell me that as partisans, many expected to vote for him because they have been taught to believe that they wanted a change. The expression was preached as propaganda by reactionary leaders until it has become nauseating to the public."

Governor Cox asked whether the voters "desire a change back to normalcy relative to legislation", to "tax revision by—big business," to "success of reactionary politicians," to "control of government by men led by Lodge and Penrose," and to other conditions.

Hoosiers in Cox Rally

Governor Cox's visit here was the occasion for a great rally of Hoosier Democracy. A parade, with fireworks, torchlights and bands, was staged and the governor spoke to an overflow meeting outside the hall. Hundreds of persons, including many clubs, marched in the parade.

The governor arrived at 5:30 p. m. from Dayton, Ohio, where he spent the day resting and where he issued a second statement attacking the Saturday Evening Post—renewing charges of unfair partisanship.

Governor Cox also preached the League of Nations and predicted victory next Tuesday.

"When I started this campaign" said Governor Cox, "I made the prediction that we would drive our opponents out of the front trench by mid-October. I have now visited 36 states. Not only has that prediction come true, but the retreat of the reactionaries' forces has become a rout. The American people clearly are for our going into the League. The lines are definitely set. My election means our going into the League and notwithstanding the wiggling and wobbling of Senator Harding, the voters have taken him at his word that he is against the League and that he has turned his back upon it.

Now a Candidate

"Every smoke screen set up by the senatorial oligarchy has been pierced and every entanglement has been torn down. The specious attempt to build up a slogan for a 'change' is the last to fall.

"My opponents make their fight upon the League issue and upon me. They have failed in their attempt to divert the issues. They have been compelled to recognize that Cox is the candidate and no longer can they continue their assault upon President Wilson upon whom they have piteously delabored for months, even though they knew he was sick and unable to defend himself as much a victim of the war as is any disabled soldier in the hospital."

In his assault upon sentiment for "a change," Governor Cox put these questions to voters:

"Do they want a change that will mean tax revision from a big business point of view? That is the change they would get from Senator Harding.

"Do the cattle raisers want the change desired by the packers so that the Kenyon-Kendrick bill will be killed, leaving the cattle men to obtain whatever prices the big five elect to give? All of Senator Harding's political associates are opposed to that bill.

What Change Is Sought?

"Do they desire a change 'back to normalcy' relative to legislation? Will Johnson, Borah, Norris and the other Progressives in and out of Congress deny they are hoping to prevent Penrose from writing the next tariff bill? Do they want a change that will mean success to the program of reactionary politicians, including Senator Harding, dealrous of abolishing all direct primaries and thus eliminating the troublesome instructed delegation when the old guard leaders assemble at 2:11 a. m. for their quadrennial conference to pick the presidential

DEFEAT SINGLE TAX

We are, as a people, in no state of mind as yet to abolish land ownership. Confiscation of all interest in land except that of tenure, would be done away with by Ballot Measure No. 20, designated as "Land Values Taxation" and known commonly as the Single Tax amendment. It should be beaten by the voters this November.

We do not object to an open state of mind on the question of taxation, or of land monopoly. The opposition to Single Tax is that it proposes to do something "now" for which there is no call, that it pretends to cure an evil to which it contributes little if any part, and that it is based on a theory of land monopoly where in fact no such monopoly exists.

Primarily, the campaign of education which has been conducted for many years by the Single Taxers has gotten nowhere. It has not made the people of the state of California feel that mere land ownership has become a burden. It is true that prices of land are high in comparison with what they used to be, but this rise has been of positive value to the state rather than an evil. The stabilizing value of land ownership, socially, is worth much more to the state than the burden, which is really rather light, of pure land rental.

The fact is that most of the rent that any one pays is based not upon pure land value but on "improvement" either natural or structural. Buildings, the installation of canals, the planting of trees and vines, the addition of fertilizer, the eradication of pests, either on single farms or over wide areas, have afforded the larger part of the improvement of land prices. And the burden of carrying the real differences between values of land in one section or another, determined for the most part as a transportation charge, is borne socially in freight rates and not in the form of a premium on the land. There remains, after deducting all these matters, a basic rental value. But this is small, and is almost entirely disregarded in social and commercial relationships. That Single Tax would tend to cure the evils of rising cost of living, has not been shown in convincing form. Cost of buildings, improvements, labor, are still the major factors in costs, as they are for instance in house rentals today.

Land monopoly does exist in some parts of the world. The people who own land will not sell it, and they charge exorbitant rents to those who desire to use it. But nothing of the kind exists in California. People are as willing to sell land as anything else. Land is a part of the liquid capital of the country, just as much as warehoused food, livestock, machinery, or buildings. The man who has any of these things can secure any of the other things by easy trading. Or the man who has merely the labor of his hands can soon acquire any of the others. The few years of self-sacrifice necessary to earn a home are valuable to citizenship. There is no popular discontent that attaches itself to the question of land holding. And there is a very important feeling of popular security that comes with the notion of stability in home owning and in settled relationship to the land on which one's business is conducted.

While Single Taxers protest that they do not purpose to make land tenure unstable, this would in fact be the effect of a uniform and scientific system of taxing up to the full rental value. There would be no object in holding any particular piece of land except sentiment or personal convenience. We would all, in fact, be tenants instead of owners. We would have the average, usual attitude of tenants toward the land—sometimes careful and conscientious, but frequently tempted to strip the land of all value, preparatory to moving elsewhere. And with no adequate system of government supervision, the land value, instead of being enhanced, would tend to decline. To be sure it is possible to check this tendency to some extent, but the remedy is difficult, and in no way justified with present land costs.

The social value of "ownership" should not be underestimated. In fact, the interest of the state in having its citizens in an honorable way attached to the soil, is a prime requisite of good government and intelligent statecraft. We should encourage the breaking down of rental systems, or large landed estates. We should have as far as possible, home owning inclinations, supported by the state.

It is because of the confusion in taxation, the attack on home owning and the failure of the claim of injurious land monopoly, that election after election, the Single Tax proposal is defeated. It should be beaten again next Tuesday.

"ADDS KINDERGARTENS"

Let us point out an advantage mentioned in one of the minor clauses of one of the less discussed Ballot Measures. When you read the ballot statement on Proposal Sixteen, you will notice that it says, among effects of the proposed change:

"Adds kindergartens to the public school system."

While the draft being made on our public school system for service is very heavy, no question should be raised, that, wherever feasible, the kindergarten should be made an integral and accepted portion of the public school system. Probably, for humanity as a whole, it is much more important than is the other extreme of the school chain, the university. University work we might have in one way or another by private beneficence and individual sacrifice. Scholars will starve in order to store up knowledge, and rich men will, now and then, build altars for their own memories, by distributing this same knowledge through colleges. But the kindergarten work if not encouraged, will be performed only by tired mothers, loving always, and always more responsive to the little hearts and minds than any teacher, but too often weary and helpless in the presence of their own babies' eager reaching out for soul food. To these, the kindergarten is a boone; to the children, the kindergarten is a wonderland, spreading out into a reality that for them is all charm, all a priceless possession of the present and the future.

We have faith, looking around us, seeing our own souls twisted and dwarfed, beating helplessly at the bars of our own temperaments and prejudices, that the wise guidance into life given by the simple associations with the creative, the imaginative, the self helpful kindergarten lessons, will be the making of our children into more happy and mutually helpful citizens than we are.

This is only one of the lesser features of Ballot Proposal No. Sixteen, but it is a good one. The kindergarten should not be an accidental or occasional feature of the state school system. It should have a leading claim on the attention of officials.

ANOTHER FEDERAL PROBE

Some branch of the Federal government is investigating what happened last summer when there was a shortage of gasoline. It is also said that officials are questioning whether there was a shortage of gasoline at all.

We are glad that the question has been raised. We have no bias on the subject. We do not even say that if there was no shortage, that what happened was wrong. We only, like the man in Dickens' "circumlocution office," would like to know. What did happen? There are facts and facts, and some of them are unimportant, some of them of vital interest. We think this is one of them that is vital. Was there a shortage of gasoline last summer? And if so, why?

It is quite futile to find, for instance, that there were such and such stocks of gasoline in existence at one time, so many less at a later period. This is undigested knowledge. We would want to know what caused this reduction in stocks, what circumstances attended it. We would want to know all about the factors that enter into petroleum production; the wages, the area and capacity of the proven fields, the effect on California of oil production elsewhere. It may be that the prices paid in California were too low. It may be that it was right for the gasoline companies, if they did do so, to go on strike. We should like to know about these things. Just now we don't.

This is why, with all due respect to the rights of producer and consumer, we should have such an institution as the Federal Trade commission. It is right that the commission should investigate oil or raisins or beef. It should have the opportunity to probe our business as well as that of people in other parts of the country. And, on the other hand, we should have the chance in public to dispute with and throw new light upon the conclusions reached by such a board. Facts—elaborated to as minute a degree as anyone wishes, studied, checked for bias or error—can be the only basis of our consideration. We want them.

We have a right to object to destructive action such as that taken by the Department of Justice against the California Associated Raisin Growers. We have no right to reject, but should welcome, any knowledge of the business that jointly concerns producers and consumers. In the division of labor, these things are all our interest. And why should we not know more about this oil shortage. It may be very helpful to the producers of oil. And then again it may help the consumers.

IN A WORLD STUDIO

To the casual thinker, the cartoon to be found elsewhere on this page is a curious reversal of the fact.

John T. M'Cutcheon, noted artist, has conceived of autumn in the terms of the highest ideals of art. Titian and Tintoretto are coloring the forest leaves with the tint sand shades of the gloriously dying year. Raphael is putting his less passionate but more stately tones on the sheaved wheat. Rubens is lending his homely designs to the pumpkin and Turner his magnificent thought to the western sky—all driven by the sharp whip of Jack Frost.

This, to the realist, is nonsense. To him, nature, with its physics and its chemistry, conducts the biological processes of the final season. The wind and the sun, the chilling earth, have done their work. Feverish nature is, in alternate flush and pallor, passing away in November, for its annual resurrection next March and April.

But is this so? Has nature of her own right, any colors, any tints, any flush or pallor? Is not nature, rather the servant of life and does not life, which supplies us with Raphael or Turner, with Rubens or Tintoretto, also through the work of many humbler artists as well, give us all that we know of the majesty of spring or the dying glory of fall? Are not the colors of the rose the result of the love of color, put into the heart of men or of birds or of insects, for their joy or sorrow? Does not a Raphael feel, only more vividly, and does he not draw, only more skillfully, what was reflected in the eyes of cave man of the Neanderthal? Did not the cave man but look into the western wind, with the same joyful vision with which long before the first lizard had painted itself against the tinted rocks, or the ermine had whitened itself on the snows of the glacial plain? How can we say that the one is artificial, the other real? What can we know of which is cause and which effect? Is it not the Raphael in each of us that sees the colors in the autumn leaves? And may be we, in some unknown chain of cause and effect, caused the leaves to be here, and painted them as we would have them prisned to make this a good, or an evil world.

THE SPIRITS OF OLD MASTERS ARE AT WORK

SING HO! FOR A NUMBER OF THINGS

A Rambling, Rampageous, Riotous Rhyme That Starteth Nowhere and Endeth in Same Place.

By AL C. JOY

Sing ho! for the pirates of long, long ago,
And the dare-devil deeds that they did!
Here's a whoop and a cheer for each bold buccaneer
Hurrah for Drake, Morgan and Kidd!
With the old Jolly Roger afloat on the jib
(My nautical knowledge is naught),
They'd roam round the main that was named after Spain
And carve every gink that they caught.
They'd stab folks,
And jab folks,
And cut off their ears
With leers, sneers and jeers,
For such was the way of these bold buccaneers.

As they sailed with the black flag afloat on the jib
(Please pardon a land-lubber's diction);
They'd playfully rid some poor Don of a rib
In a way more romantic than fiction.
And then take his purse,
Or his wife or his nurse,
And polish their deeds with a pirate's best curse,
As he walked out the plank to eviction.
Or worse!

Sing ho! for the pirates of long, long ago—
But why comes this twist of my pen?
They're dead, long ago—and are sizzling below
In the depths of the devil's own den.
And besides, not a thought did I have at the start
Of these purse-seeking persons of yore.
But I got at my writing
With thought of inditing
A few friendly words not the least bit exciting
To the dear outside packers,
The true and tried packers,
The loving-eyed packers,
Now with us once more.

How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood,
(Oh, welcome, old line, coming pat!)
When each was a smile
Would the grower beguile,
And slip him a litney just once in a while
With gusto and also eclat.
Oh, "them was the days," as the old saying goes,
When the gent in the vineyard had plenty of woes,
And the packer, kind-hearted,
Came act and departed,
And always had more than he had when he started—
But the woes? Well, of course, he left those!

And then came the years when the grower forgot
The debt that he owed to this packing house lot,
Where once he'd implored 'em
He now just ignored 'em,
And treated them so that the blew nearly floored 'am!
He simply got busy at packing himself,
And put in his jeans all the middleman's pelf,
And so for his mail
And his toil in the soil
And sweating
And fretting,
He started in getting
A few bucks ahead of the month's pile of bills.
While the packer looked on
At the cinch that was gone
With a chill in his heart and the blue in his gills.

Sing ho! for the packer who's with us today.
And chants still his anthem, "The grower must pay!"
The grief in his soul is appalling to see!
And pity moves both Uncle Sam and me!
We'll get an injunction,
We'll put his function,
We'll go into court full of bunkshun and unction!
And poor Uncle Sam's, who isn't so wise;
We'll wheedle and pull yards of wool o'er his eyes,
And you'll not get your traws in
On which there's a raisin
That isn't red taped to the spot that it lays in!

Oh, the days of the past with their romantic verve,
When bold buccaneers boodled by on their nerve,
They have gone—but why mention
Those days when convention
Was rarely if ever brought to your attention?
Besides I am writing of raisins, you know,
And the way that the seasons still come and still go,
And of cabbages, kings,
And a whole heap of things,
Not to mention a packer or so.

But speaking of pirates, as that thought insists
In whirling around in my noodle's wild mists,
If Kidd were with us
He would make no such fuss
As of ancient days. He was an adaptable cuss.
He would let-go out with a gun or a knife
And say, "Come on through with your jack or your life!"
But he'd play somewhat foxy
And do that by proxy,
And fall back himself on plans more orthodoxy
In up-to-date times. He'd go to the law
With more fancy tricks than we ever saw,
And when he was finished he'd have all the loot
And he'd laugh if the victim implored him, "Please shoot!"

Oh, Old Captain Kidd! If you were alive
By ways dark and devious still would you thrive:
No flag with the crossbones would float from your mast,
No cutlass you'd swing as you did in the past;
You'd ran such rude measures,
And ask men to praise yours,
While in wily style you would add to your treasures.
To be sure, you'd take all that the law would allow,
And more if you found you could get it somehow,
And I picture the glee
You would feel when you'd see
Your victim start squirming and groaning! Oh, Gee!

The world has moved on since those olden days, Cap,
And the pirate today is a new sort of chap,
Yet in sizing him up I have oft times debated
The chance that your soul has been reincarnated.
He couldn't afford
To work with a sword,
But he swings a mean eye and a soft, honeyed word,
And he gets his results with the dear double-cross.
While the bird that he grabs is a tactful loss,
You couldn't do better yourself, Captain Kidd,
Admitting the wild, gory deeds that you did.
But if you could forsake
Hot blades and take
A trip back to Earth
WHAT A PACKER YOU'D MAKE!

SPIRITUAL UPLIFT MORE THAN RULES

Among the scores of answers daily received in answer to invitations to attend the All-American Conference on the Great Red Plague at Washington, two stand out. One of these was an acceptance and one a "regret."

The acceptance was from General Pershing, who wrote: "The Conference on the Great Red Plague to be held in Washington during the second week in December will deal with one of the important questions which concern the general welfare of the people. It is a disagreeable subject and one that we are prone to push aside and leave to chance; and yet there are few things that bring more unhappiness to the human race. In France, where the physical and moral welfare of our soldiers was of vital importance in order that they might fight with resolute courage and efficiency and be returned to their homes clean and self-respecting, every possible measure was taken to control venereal disease. Rigid regulations were promulgated, but it was due to a general spiritual uplift more than to military prohibitions that our army returned from its victory with a record that has never been equaled by that of any other army in the history of the world.

"We should take every precaution and exercise every good influence to see that our young men and women are free from the ravages of this dread disease, and I sincerely hope the coming conference will do much to accomplish this end."

The "regret" came from David Starr Jordan, chancellor emeritus of Leland Stanford University, who wrote:

"I regret that I cannot attend your conference. I haven't the strength to travel that I used to have. I am proud to know, however, that I have helped to give you two members of your administrative committee, Dr. Thomas A. Storey of the United States interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board, and Dr. William F. Snow, of the American Social Hygiene Association. I am proud, too, to have been the first to suggest the name 'Great Red Plague' for the twin diseases you are attacking."

GETTING RUBBER FROM MILKWEED

Rubber from milkweed! This is one of the latest developments at the University of California. Prof. M. A. Hall has been quietly making experiments for the past three years, and he is now on the way east for conferences with Dr. Frances Long of the Carnegie Institution at Washington, who has been experimenting in the same direction.

Prof. Hall is not in the rubber business, nor has he any leanings that way. He hopes to create a genuine production of rubber in a "white man's country." He hopes to see the time when rubber will take its place in California agriculture along with alfalfa and fruit and sugar beets and grain.

Before leaving for the east, Prof. Hall said:

"The United States is dependent on foreign countries for rubber, whether in peace or war.

"In the past three years nearly every plant with a milky juice has been analyzed for its rubber percentage. Of all the plants thus far examined, milk weeds hold out the best promise.

"A variety of milkweed has been found in the Mississippi valley that when dried yielded 7 per cent of rubber. This particular weed, however, is dependent on good soil and, plenty of water, and consequently if cultivated for its rubber would come into competition with corn and other middle western crops for valuable lands. Whether it would meet the competition, in an economic way, is to be seen.

"Another variety was found in the hills back of Oakland that yielded from 2 to 3 per cent of rubber.

"An exceedingly promising variety was located on the desert in southeastern California. Analyses showed that this weed carries about 5 per cent of rubber. This variety thrives on the desert and it may develop into an excellent crop there, without reclamation and irrigation of the land.

"This variety is now under critical examination. What we are trying to do with it is to 'breed it up' so that it will contain a higher percentage of rubber. If we can, it will only be another example of 'breeding up' plants. When mature, this weed attains a height of three feet, and it could be harvested, like alfalfa, two or three times a year. It is possible that the fiber in the stalks could be turned into a valuable by-product."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THEY DON'T SAY WHAT THEY MEAN

With shivers running up my spine
And thrilling with delightful shocks,
I heard the hero speak this line:
"You brute! I'll fell you like an ox!"
It sounded brave and noble then;
It filled my soul with shuddery bliss:
But when I thought of it again
It quite defied analysis.
For every ox is kind and meek
Of gentle heart and placid feature,
And not a one would ever seek
To fell a fellow creature.

With lowered brow and gleaming eye
In accents clear and deep and firm
I heard the dastard villian cry
"You wretch: I'll crush you like a worm!"
It had a fine and moving sound
The sentiment was bold and strong,
But on repeating it I found
The simile was put in wrong.
I've looked on worlds of worms between
The Hudson and the Irrawaddy,
But I am sure I've never seen
A worm crush anybody.

Last night I viewed another play
And how my blood was set astir
What time I heard the lady say:
"I'm going to shoot you like a cur!"
It seemed to me that this brief line
Expressed a fiery sentiment,
And yet I simply can't divine
Exactly what the lady meant.
For though the average bow-wow
Will bite if you his tail should step on,
I've never seen one that knew how
To use a lethal weapon!

FIREPROOF.

There was a big fire in a suburban mansion near New York last week and everything was burned up except the coal in the cellar.

BUT FOR A DIFFERENT REASON.

Formerly when a man went to Canada he was under suspicion. Now when he goes to Canada he is still under suspicion.

ON THE LEVEL, ANYWAY.

Some of the new burlesque shows are pretty bad, but their owners never set up the clatni that they are elevating the stage.

BEEF PRICES AND THE SINGLE TAX

Editor Republican:—I would like to point out some things which have a direct relation to the land value tax, that will interest some of the people who live in the south end of Fresno county, and the north end of Kings county, and ought to interest every farmer.

Here on the Laguna de Tache Grant there a number of men engaged in the cattle business who own a small acreage of alfalfa, but depend mostly on renting salt grass pasture for cattle feed. A few years ago these cattlemen goth their pasture for 50 cents per acre per annum, for which they are now paying $2.50 per acre rent.

There has been a greater increase in pasture rent, (Which is the cost of cattle feed) than in the price of beef, so none of the increased price of beef goes to the cattlemen. It all goes for the increased price of cattle feed. (Pasture rent.)

With the increased price of meat, the cattleman have a harder struggle than ever. There has been no expense during these years to the owners of this pasture land, as each tenent must build and maintain their own fences. I ask A. E. Kern, John S. Chambers, Prof. Plehn, or any one to show where the cattlemen who rent this pasture land, have received any benefit from the increased price of beef except where they have a lease for a term of years, when is equivalent to ownership for the duration of the lease?

This land is owned by the Laguna Lands Limited of which Mr. L. A. Nares is manager. I will quote Mr. Nares in his letter to the Fresno Republican June 6th, 1918. "The Federal Food Administration was successful in eliminating all profiteering by speculation in hay and other food products, as the general complaint last winter was that starving and other stock could not be fed at all profitably here owing to the high price of feed.

"Now that the middleman has been regulated, is it going to be necessary for the Government to regulate the producer? It would appear so from the complaints now coming in." After quoting figures to prove that alfalfa hay can be produced for less than $20 per ton, Mr. Nares proceeds: "I am therefore going to suggest to the producer that they should not render it necessary for the Food Administration to have to take steps to prevent their unduly profiteering in consequence of the serious feed condition that is going to face all of California south of San Francisco Bay with the exception of Imperial Valley."

Raising the price of cattle feed five-fold, when it is in the shape of rent, is business, but to double the price of cattle feed when it is produced by the sweat of your brow, that is profiteering. Mr. Nares was live stock commissioner of the Food Administration and was, no doubt, empowered to make this threat against the alfalfa growers.

I am not pointing out what seems the inconsistency of Mr. Nares because he controls many thousands of acres of land, but as an example of what is the prevailing opinion of our best people. They look at the rise in price of the necessities of life as a calamity and the raising of rent and price of land as a blessing. The high price of beef is investigated by our government, but the high price of cattle feed when it is all or partly rent, it is put down as legitimate cost.

I have used the name of the Laguna Lands Limited and Mr. Nares with no intention of making this personal, as I believe they give you as much for your money and are as lenient on their settlers as any colonization company in the state. The rent they charge is not higher than other people charge, and sometimes not so high. It is not owners but tax laws that should be changed.

According to the report of the Commission on Land Colonization and Rural Credits, page 7:

"Only eleven million acres out of twenty-eight million acres of farm land are being cultivated."

This leaves 17 million acres, practically all of which is rented by cattlemen for grazing cattle, and the increased price of beef has increased the rent of this land about the same all over the state. Land Values Taxation, Number 20 on the ballot, proposes to take a part of this increased price we are paying for beef in taxes, all of which now goes to the owners of this seventeen million acres of rent. It is needless to remind the cattle men that when they sell their cattle they must pay their rent; but Mr. Consumer, when you buy your beefsteak and pay 30 cents where you used to pay 15 cents per lb just say to yourself, here goes 15 cents a pound, that the cattlemen can turn over as rent to the owners of the seventeen million acres of uncultivated land, who have raised nothing except the rent.

To complete a second part of the original price of beef, 15 cents a pound, went to the owners of the feed pastures but now you are paying 30 cents a pound, which means you are paying an additional price of 15 cents a pound, all of which goes as rent to the owners of these pasture land. What a loss some of us would make, if the government put a tax of 5 cents a pound on meat, even for war purposes, but when a tax of 15 cents a pound goes to some private company in individual, in the shape of rent, it is not a burden, it shows prosperity. How many of you feel this way about it when you pay your meat bills?

REPUBLICANS IN VOTE FORECAST CLAIM COUNTY

Wire State Headquarters Fresno Safe For Ticket

Assert Shortridge to Win By 1,000; Harding—By 3,500

Responding to telegraphic inquiries from the Republican state headquarters in San Francisco as to the campaign outlook in the Fresno district, members of the county central committee yesterday put up the claim that the entire G. O. P. ticket would sweep the county with a safe majority.

"Our answer to the wire forecasts that Samuel Shortridge will carry the county by a majority of at least 1,000 over James D. Phelan for United States senator, and that Harding for president will beat Cox here by 3,500," Ray M. Wakefield, secretary of the committee said.

The committee is figuring on a 75 per cent vote, which would mean about 28,000 votes cast. Of this number they claim Shortridge will have the long end of 14,500 with Phelan 13,500. The normal party vote, its members say, would give Shortridge about 13,200 and Phelan 12,800, thus conceding that the former San Francisco mayor is the strongest candidate on the Democratic ticket.

Cox, their reports indicate, will barely carry a sufficient vote to equal the registration of his party in the county.

A day of strenuous work will close the Republican campaign in various outlying cities today. The speakers on the swing around the county are James Oliver, Congressman H. E. Barbour, and S. G. Mortland, county chairman.

The schedule arranged for these political pilgrims follows: Fowler at 10 a. m., Selma at noon, Del Rey at 2 p. m., Parlier at 4 p. m., and Reedley at 8 p. m.

Gas Co. Employes to Dance at Stockton

Twenty-two members of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company employes' association are planning a joint Hallowe'en party and dance to be given in Stockton at which representatives will be present from the company's divisions at Electra, San Joaquin, Stanislaus and Tuolumne.

The dance will take place Saturday evening and will be followed on Sunday with a pleasure trip down the river by boat, at which special attractions will be featured, including dancing, vaudeville stunts concluding with a "feed."

This is the first occasion in a number of years that the employes' association of Fresno has had an opportunity of joining hands with the employers' association of the northern part of the state in any affair of note, and an unusual enjoyable and beneficial meeting is anticipated.

FOLLOW BUDGET PLAN IN BONDS

State Commission to Adhere to Its Policy

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 28.—In a pronouncement of policy made public today the state highway commission said all money for funds under the various bond issues would be spent "in accordance with the budget on which the bond issue was based."

One project will not be extended at the expense of another, it was said, and "each community will be protected in the funds originally intended for its roads."

The commission issued the following statement:

"Both the $20,000,000 set aside in the $40,000,000 bond issue for uncompleted roads in the first two bond issues as well as the $20,000,000 voted for new roads will be spent in accordance with the budget on which the bond issue was based.

"Adherence to the budget is necessary in the opinion of the commission by reason of the increased cost of highway construction which will prevent the money voted doing all the work that was mapped out for it to do.

"By adherence to the budget plan, each community will be protected in the funds originally intended for its roads."

MRS. BRODIE GILMAN,
who before her marriage yesterday, was Miss Edith Harvey.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Bart Harvey on Van Ness avenue was the setting for the wedding of their only daughter, Miss Edith Harvey and Brodie Gilman of New York yesterday afternoon. Gorgeous chrysanthemums adorned the rooms and in the conservatory windows tall baskets filled with white chrysanthemums made a delightful background for the bridal couple. Small pink chrysanthemums, arranged in smaller baskets, and birds in gilded cages, added to the lovely effect.

Promptly at the appointed hour, to the strains of the wedding march as played by Mrs. Rollin Newport, a cousin of the bride's Miss Harvey entered the room on the arm of her father. She made a stunning picture in her lovely wedding gown of white satin, elaborately beaded with crystal beads. Instead of a wedding veil she wore a hat of silver lace, faced in blue and trimmed with ostrich flowers of blue and pink. Her bouquet was a shower of orchids and maiden hair fern tied with broad silver ribbons. She was met by the groom and the services was performed by Dr. H. O. Breeden of the First Christian church. Following the ceremony, congratulations followed by the guests who numbered only a few of the close friends of the bride.

Refreshments were served, and the surprise of the afternoon came when Mrs. Gilman, instead of throwing her bouquet, presented it to Miss Harriet Crawford, announcing at the same time that she was to be the next bride, the lucky man to be Callahan McClellan of this city. The young couple were immediately besieged with congratulations.

Miss Crawford is the daughter of Dr. J. M. Crawford and is unusually popular among the younger set. She is a graduate of the Fresno high school and also attended Occidental College. Mr. McClellan is a rising young attorney of this city and has been associated with H. H. Welsh. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. McClellan of La Verne, near Los Angeles. He came to Fresno only last November, upon his return from Paris, where he was in the office of the Judge Advocate General. Prior to this he had been in Base Hospital No. 46, during the war.

When the excitement over the engagement had subsided, Miss Harvey very graciously sang for the guests, accompanied by Mrs. Herbert Dunn. Then she donned her traveling suit of blue tricotine with which she wore a becoming hat of brown with burnt orange trimming, and pheasants breasts. Mr. and Mrs. Gilman left on the four o'clock train for San Francisco where they will remain until Saturday when they will start east, planning to be in Chicago for election day. Later they will go to New Haven, Conn., for a couple of weeks after which they will go on to New York to make their home.

The wedding gifts were displayed in the sun room, and were many and varied, consisting of a beautiful set of silver, besides many other lovely presents.

START ACTIVITY FOR RED CROSS

Pledges of Support at Headquarters From All Parts

The first commercial house to report a 100 per cent enrollment for the American Red Cross roll call, which officially opens on November 11, was Einstein, incorporated, which turned in its cards to the campaign headquarters yesterday.

In addition to being the first "over the top" the store is the initial house to be organized under the campaign plan suggested by the drive managers. This includes the appointment of one of the livest and most aggressive employes to solicit the entire establishment, thus assuring personal work and concrete results.

Pledges of similar support were received yesterday by Anthony A. Tremp, the roll call manager, from the local Elks' club, the California Associated Raisin company and other commercial establishments.

The P. H. Marlin shoe store was the second local business house to sign up every employe and member of the firm for the Red Cross. Cleve Roth at Einstein's was the first house committeeman to turn in a perfect score.

"With this sort of work all along the line we should certainly be enabled to meet our quota of 50,000 members and $70,000 on the opening day, leaving the remainder of the campaign period to meet a new objective which I hope to set at 50,000," said Manager Tremp.

Club News OF THE SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY DISTRICT

Reciprocity Day for the club women of Fresno county yesterday proved a wonderful success. Following a reception, a luncheon was served in the First Christian church, places being laid for 200 guests. Mrs. Edgin Rorx of Parlier acted as toastmistress.

In the center of the dining room was a round table, with a bowl of chrysanthemums for a centerpiece, at which were seated twenty guests, including the president and board of directors of the Parlor Lecture club, the toast mistress, the presidents of the toast mistres, the presidents of the clubs who responded to toasts, the speakers, and the state vice president. Other tables were placed about the room, one table seating the presidents of the county clubs, another seating the officers and chairman of the state, district, and county and also the reciprocity committee.

Mrs. J. F. Wright, president of the County Federation and also president of the Orange Cove club gave the first toast, "A Garden Grows Anywhere," in which she compared the clubs to a garden, the seeds planted, growing in any town or community. Mrs. M. F. McCormick, president of the Wednesday club spoke on the Vision and Supervision of the Garden;" Mrs. George Hobbs of Dinuba, on the "Systematic Garden;" Mrs. E. F. Stoner, president of the Reedley Study and Civic club, "The Old Fashioned Garden;" Mrs. J. H. Robinson, president of the Selma Wednesday club, "The Exclusive Garden; Mrs. E. A. Fitzgerald, vice president of the State Federation, "The Vision of the Club Garden of Today." At the close of this talk, Mrs. Fitzgerald was presented with an armful of pink roses, by Mrs. C. H. Hotaling, president of the Parlor Lecture club, who said, in the culmination of the garden, this was the best rose, the most stately rose and one to be very proud of. With this, Mrs. Fitzgerald was given a veritable ovation. This is among the last club meetings which Mrs. Fitzgerald is attending in Fresno as she is leaving soon to make her home in Berkeley.

Following the luncheon, a delightful musical program was given. Mrs. Emma Meiow Fitch sang a group of songs. She first read The Salvation of the Dawn from the Sanskrit, singing the sequel, "Light" by Stevenson. This was followed by Oh, Danny Boy, an old Irish melody arranged by Weatherby; Old DeOl Ark's A Movering, by Guion. Miss Elsie presided at the organ playing The Andantino by Lemare and Sanlaro by Delacy. She also played the accompaniments for the singers. Llewellyn B. Cain followed singing Beloved It Is Morn by Aylyard; Love's Rhapsody by d'Hardelot; Duncan's Song, by Brune.

The musical program was followed by talks by Miss Amy Sleinhart on the 19th amendment; Mrs. Law on the 13th amendment, concerning community property, dealing particularly with protective measures for children. Mrs. Tate Thompson, chairman of the tuberculosis bureau spoke against amendment No. 5 and Dr. Cross spoke on health measures. Dr. W. H. Brucher of the Red Cross Narcotic clinic of Los Angeles gave an interesting talk.

Presentation of the Mayflower pageant at Eagle Park Greek theater by members of the Woman's Club of Bakersfield, assisted by high school girls, was a big success. Mrs. C. A. Morris was chairman of the affair, and her daughter, Miss Margaret, assisted wonderfully in the spectacle. The dancers were trained by Miss Irma Bayburn. Miss Dorothy Goodrich was leader of the orchestra, and Miss Jane Myott director of the glee club. Miss Ethelynne Smith was stage director, and Mrs. James T. Maguire mistress of costumes. The historical preface, describing the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers from England at Plymouth Rock was given by Mrs. T. L. Cummins.

The pageant opens with the return of John White and his wife Perseverance (Mrs. H. A. Peairs and Mrs. Paul Vander Elke) from meeting. John White, who was a visionary, and fond of trying to probe the future, slops with his reading in the yard, and, reading and dreaming, sees a wonderful vision of the future of his new country, America.

America, which part is nicely taken by Miss Rosalind Curran in a costume typical of the young America, appears the first figure in the vision and tells John White something of the future of his wonderful country. First, as a symbol of the fruitfulness of his country, she introduces "Nature," who in a costume of green, appliqued with leaves, performs a dance interpretative of the care of Mother Nature for her children. "Nature," in turn, introduces her handmaidens, "Fire," "Water," "Earth" and "Air," who dance in keeping with the services performed by each for man. Barbara Selby, as "Nature," Florence Romero as "Earth," Margaret Morris as "Fire," Frances Brenan as "Air," and Della Dwight as "Water," were all charming in their rendition of their parts.

The next step in the pageant was the appearance of the Indian chief (Lucille Rowland), who in pantomime offers his services to America. The group of Indian maidens then appear, and to the accompaniment of a beautiful Indian melody, sung by invisible singers, interpret the planting and harvesting of the crops. As the Indian maidens retire, the Puritan maidens, the high school glee club in Puritan costumes of black, with white caps and kerchiefs, come upon the scene, singing the old hymn, "All Good Gifts."

America then speaks and fortells the times of war, followed by peace and prosperity which shall be the future lot of America. "Peace," with her dove, "Prosperity," with her basket overflowing with Nature's bounty, the "Army" and "Navy," all appear and offer their services to America. Miss Mary Hougham, as "Peace;" Miss Jeannette Walker as "Prosperity;" Grace Wible, personating the Army, and Donna Horton, the Navy, all entered gracefully into the spirit of the allegory, and took their parts well.

At this juncture, two tiny future citizens (Eleanor Smith and Jack Maguire) came forward with the symbol of the glory of America and crown her Queen.

Then follows the glorious finale, in which the entire cast appears, while Indian Maidens, "Nature," "Earth," "Fire," "Water" and "Air," join in a glad revel and dance, dispersing and disappearing quietly and slowly, through the green vista formed by the arches of the beautiful Attic Greek theater. And the dove of peace, who has escaped from his keeper, mounts to the vine-clad walls, and broods benignly over the closing scene.

It is the hope of the directorate of the Woman's club to make the presentation of an historical pageant an annual feature of the club program, following the precedent so charmingly established with the production presented.

The Exeter Woman's Club held the initial meeting of the season at the home of the president, Mrs. Frank Blain, on Tuesday afternoon. Delano Woman's Club held an interesting session on Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Grace Dorris, assemblywoman, addressed the members and their friends on the proposed community property law and other amendments. Mrs. Dorris is an able speaker and a great favorite with club women and she defended the law with ability. E. Curtis Clark also spoke taking the negative view of the amendment.

Musical numbers for the afternoon were given by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dickes of San Francisco. Their selections were well given and very much enjoyed. Fifteen new members were received into the club. They were Mrs. J. K. Hamilton, Mrs. Mabel Stewart, Mrs. W. S. Allen, Mrs. Joseph Girard, Mrs. Jules Girard, Mrs. Phillippe Girard, Mrs. A. Villard, Mrs. Harry Quinn, Mrs. Neal Benton, Mrs. B. F. Bradley, Mrs. R. S. Frooks, Mrs. Rodney Bacon, Mrs. Arthur Lissenbee, Mrs. R. S. Smith and Mrs. L. D. McKinley.

The next meeting of the club will take place on November Thirteenth at the grammar school auditorium and Mrs. A. M. Woosley will lead a meeting. Her topic will be "Americanization."

COUNTY POSTS ENTER CONTEST

Five Definite Entries For Old Tire Pile Secured

Three more posts have entered the American Legion Old Tire Pile contest which is to be staged between November 1 and December 4. The posts which, at meetings last Wednesday evening consented to enter and asserted their belief that they would be winners were Selma, Kerman and Clovis. This makes five posts which have now definitely entered the competition and are waiting for the start of the contest next Monday. The other posts are Fresno and Reedley.

A letter has been sent to each post by H. J. Soher, chairman of the committee of the Fresno post, urging all posts to enter the contest and to help the cause to which the proceeds of the pile will be devoted. The other posts that are expected to enter and which have been invited are Kingsburg, Del Rey, Parlier, Monmouth, Caruthers, Coalinga and Riverdale.

At a meeting of the Clovis post, the Old Tire Pile proposition was brought up by Jack Fenley, a member of the local committee, and was most enthusiastically received by the legionaires of that community. Team captains for the drive were appointed.

Dr. E. M. Johnston presented the idea to the Kerman post Wednesday evening, and the legion members of that community also were very enthusiastic over the chance to do an humanitarian act and to prove their superior ability over the other posts in collecting old tires. The Kerman-ites are to start Monday, and their efforts will not stop until December 4, when the contest closes.

At a meeting of the Selma post on Wednesday evening, Ray Hays and Guy Leonard of Fresno were accorded enthusiastic receptions when they broached the subject of the Old Tire Pile. The Selma legion men are also in the fight for the post standard which is being offered as a prize.

Tonight, the Gypsy Band of the local legion men will travel to Caruthers post, where they will attempt to have the ex-service men of that community enter the contest. It is expected that they will, like the others, be enthusiastic over the Old Tire Pile contest.

The Old Tire Pile committee, consisting of H. J. Soher, Jack Fenley, Eddie Waterman, Frank Robinson, Jack Murphy and Jack Quinlan, who will present the plans for the contest at the meeting of the Fresno county conference at their meeting Monday night, will ask that body to take charge of the contest and sponsor it.

Meanwhile, the police department and the fire department are lining up their prospective "tire donors," and, while not collecting the tires yet, they have several hundred "spotted" and ready for delivery Monday morning. The fire department will accept tires at any of the fire houses, while the police department will call for tires, or accept them in the basement of the city hall.

A plan to have the Boy Scouts of Fresno compete for a suitable prize is also being formulated. According to the plan, each troop will strive to obtain the most tires, the one getting the largest number winning the prize.

VOTE YES

Chiropractic Bill No. 5 YES X

THE CHIROPRACTIC BILL is an INITIATIVE ACT of the citizens of California. 88,000 of the Voters of the State have signed the Petition to place it upon the Ballot.

It creates a Board of Chiropractic Examiners appointed by the Governor and "paid by receipts under the Act," and adds no expense whatever to the tax-payers.

This Bill provides that Chiropractors licensed thereunder shall be amenable to the State Board of Health, and must obey all of its regulations pertaining to Public Health Measures, Quarantine and control of contagious diseases. This law will not interfere with or restrict any other method of healing.

Twenty-six States, containing 58% of the population of the United States, have passed similar laws, none having been appealed or amended. In each of these States the Chiropractors have had to fight the "Medical Trust" just as we are compelled to do here in California.

We are here because of the great need of the sick and afflicted. Consider the report of the United States Government after its investigation of the results of the "FLU" epidemic. This report shows that the Medical Doctors lost 180 out of each 1000 cases of "FLU" they were called to treat, while the Chiropractors lost only one case out of each 1000 handled.

The "Joker" in the Medical Law gives the Medical Board the option to approve or disapprove Chiropractic Colleges, and the California State Medical Board has refused to approve any Chiropractic College, or admit any of their graduates to examination. We have hundreds of letters in proof of this.

This Act is not promoted by Schools or groups of any kind, but by the Chiropractors of California through their State Society of over 800 members, and 88000 voters who have been benefited by Chiropractic.

NOTE—For further information see Page 21 of the "Summary of the Secretary of State on Amendments to the Constitution and Proposed Statutes."

On being brought to account for this amazing statement, he would not name this "spokesman representing France."

The French Embassy at Washington has officially informed the State Department of the United States that the French Government has not consulted Senator Harding, either formally or informally.

Senator Harding stands convicted at least of gross misrepresentation. But there is a

AMERICAN WOMAN MAY BECOME QUEEN OF GREECE

The death of King Alexander of Greece, who, according to cable dispatches succumbed to the bites of a pet monkey, is expected to precipitate an international scramble for the Hellenic throne. Foremost among the aspirants is Prince Christopher, younger brother of the former King Constantine and uncle of the dead monarch. Christopher, backed by the millions of his beautiful wife, the former Mrs. William B. Leeds, widow of the American tin plate king, is said to be soliciting Italian aid in his fight for the throne. Mrs. Leeds may be the first American to grace a European throne.

ALBANIA IS FREE OF FOREIGN ELEMENT

Expect Powers to Aid Against Future Aggression

SCUTARI, Albania, Oct. 29.—With the withdrawal of Italian troops from Avlona and the cessation of hostile incursions by the Serbs and Montenegrins, Albania is free of foreign occupation for the first time in her turbulent history. Albanians feel that they have at last reached the goal of their national independence. Their undying love of liberty which has persisted through all their centuries of struggle against Turk and Christian, is particularly quick and hopeful today. The people hope that the great powers will protect them from future designs on the part of selfish foreign countries.

Perhaps never before was there such a state of tranquillity within the borders of the little Albanian state. In the streets of Scutari one sees the Albanian colors displayed for the first time, and listens to patriotic demonstrations by local groups of citizens and societies. Enthusiasm and patriotic fervor are at a high pitch. Even the native tribes, who usually are engaged in factional combat among themselves, are living in a state of peace. This peace is based upon nothing more than a word of honor given with the approval of the people between two or more chiefs.

The Albanian's word, which he calls "besa," is absolutely binding. It is customary for families within a tribe, for tribes and for large groups of tribes to arrange between themselves a "besa," that is an agreement by which all matters of personal vengeance are suspended for a given length of time.

Except in a few communities in the South, the Albanians live in tribal organizations, in scattered communities in the mountains, where each man defends his home and his rights with his rifle, which he never lays down when out of doors. They are governed by a sort of common law, which is known as the Law of Lek. Lek was a more or less traditional law-giver of the once powerful family of Dukadjini.

China Looks For Two Things From Congress

SHANGHAI, Oct. 29.—Not the least among other things that the Chinese generally expect from the next session of the American congress are two projects for which official support has been pledged—the lifting of the American ministry at Peking to an embassy, and the erection in Shanghai of a pretentious new consular building.

Stephen G. Porter, Pittsburg, Republican member of the house of representatives and chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, pledged his support to both of these projects on the occasion of the visit to Shanghai last August of a party of American legislators and officials.

The American administrative building in Shanghai consists of two rather ancient structures in which are housed the consulate, the American post office, the United States court for China, other offices and residence quarters for officials. These buildings occupy an excellent, centrally located site overlooking the public gardens and the Bund, the water front thoroughfare, at the point where the Soochow creek flows into the Whangpoo river.

GET READY FOR WITCHES

"The auld wife's weel hoarded nits
Are round and round divided,
An' monie lads and lassies' fates
Are there that night decided."

Hallowe'en—that delightfully mysterious time when one's destiny for the coming year is (?) decided, is almost upon us. Hallowe'en is the name popularly given to the eve or vigil of All Hallows' of the festival of All Saints. Since the olden days it has been the custom to crack nuts, duck for apples in a tub of water, eat punkin' pie and perform fireside revelries of a superstitious character. The last evening in the month of October is the night when witches are abroad and "monie lads and lassies'" fates are decided. The youngster in the photograph is in the wood-pile with "punkin's head" ready for the night of witches and imps.

Hardships at Sea Reported by Mariners

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Hardships at sea that made the trip of the "ancient mariner" seem comparatively comfortable were told by the skipper of the Italian steamer Presidente Wilson and his passengers who arrived today from Trieste and Naples.

Soon after leaving Trieste a wireless warning that a field of floating mines had broken loose caused a wide detour; then fire broke out in the forward room as Naples was reached. In the harbor labor agitators harangued the crew to go on strike and at sea the next day two dozen stowaways were discovered so the ship put back to Naples to debark them. One attempted suicide by jumping overboard and was arrested.

After leaving land again the ship came upon seven Moors exhausted in a small boat. They said a severe storm washed away their sails and cargo when enroute from Gibraltar to Algiers. A severe storm, amounting almost to a typhoon, which lashed huge waves over the entire liner, was encountered off Gibraltar. For six days she pushed against the head winds.

CANNERIES TO HANDLE OLIVES

One Thousand Tons to Be Converted Into Oil at Plant

VISALIA, Oct. 28.—The Visalia Co-operative Canneries management makes announcement that arrangements have been completed whereby 1,000 tons of olives are to be handled at their plant here for the olive growers of Tulare county and turned into olive oil.

Manager John T. Baer said. We have almost a thousand tons contracted for at the present time and can use possibly 200 tons more. I would say that any grower who desires to place any amount under 200 tons with the cannery should at once get in touch with us."

Complete equipment to handle the run has been ordered. It is expected that all the machinery will be here and installed by December 1. About three months will be consumed in grinding the olives into oil Mr. Baer said.

It has been rather difficult to find a ready olive market this year according to the growers. Thousands of tons of unpicked olives are upon the trees between Porterville and Reedley with no prospective buyer in sight.

"When the olives are turned into oil there is no reason why the product cannot be sold" said the cannery manager. "We are only sorry that we cannot bring further relief to the growers this year but lack of equipment forces us to handle a stated tonnage," he concluded.

ROAD PAVING CHEAPER HERE

Cost More in Illinois and Oklahoma Says James I. Wagy

BAKERSFIELD, Oct 28.—Road paving costs more in Illinois and Oklahoma than it does in California, according to Supervisor James I. Wagy, who with his family has returned from a visit to his old home in Macon county, Illinois.

Concrete roads, 18 feet wide, built on the 1-2-5 basis, will average around $52,000 a mile in Illinois, as compared with $45,000 in California.

Wagy says that the east is profiting by our earlier improved road building experience. Illinois voted $60,000,000 for roads, and is putting the roads down to stay.

The Middle West has had a bumper corn crop for which the market is dull, and there is much of last year's big crop on hand. Shortage of cars prevented many farmers from disposing of their corn when it would have brought $1.95 a bushel, whereas the price now is about half of that figure. Livestock conditions are good, Wagy found.

The vote is running strongly to the Republican ticket in Illinois and Missouri, declared Wagy, and straw ballots everywhere reflected the prevailing belief that Harding and Coolidge would sweep the big states of the Middle West. Missouri is wavering, he said, and Democrats of lifelong party faith are registered to vote for the Republican ticket this year. There are fewer Republican defections to Cox and Roosevelt, Wagy said.

STATE SECURES BIG LAND FUND

More Than $5,000 Is Realized In Sale of School Realty

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 28.—The state owns Sections 16 and 36 in every township of the state, under the Act of 1853, but hundreds of thousands of acres of this land have been sold in the past decades. Since the first of 1919, the state has realized more than $500,000 from the sale of school lands. A sale held this year in Imperial brought as high as $12 an acre for lands which sold in forty-acre tracts, and lands sold by the state in Kern county last year averaged $2 to $5 an acre. Large tracts of school land are still held by the state here, and will be sold later.

The sections 16 and 36 throughout the west side oilfields have proven to be very valuable for petroleum. These lands were originally sold by the state for as low as $1.25 an acre, before it was known they were highly mineralized. Had the state sold the lands at prices now prevailing for oil lands, the state would have realized sufficient revenue to have run its public schools for a long time, declared A. W. Sanborn, deputy state surveyor general.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL HEADS TO MEET TODAY

Ban Johnson and Five Clubs to Discuss Future Plans

Conference Is Expected to Decide Baseball War Question

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—President Byron Bancroft Johnson of the American League and the five club owners which have aided with him in all league fights will hold a conference here tomorrow which may decide whether there will be a baseball war over the proposed reorganization of the national game.

Officially, the conference is a meeting of the league's board of directors, but unofficially the clubs who Johnson terms the "loyal" five will be present, while the three which have opposed the iron circuit president in his administration of league affairs have not been invited.

Representatives to Meet.

Meeting with Johnson will be representatives of the Philadelphia, Washington, Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis clubs. They will take up the situation made by the eight National League clubs and the Chicago, New York and Boston American League clubs that the National Commission be abolished and control of baseball placed in command of a "civil tribunal" of three men not financially interested in the game.

Baseball men point out that there are two courses which the magnates might take tomorrow. One is to agree to meet with the eleven other major league clubs at the session called for November 8 to act on the proposed reorganization, or to refuse to take part in the proposals for a change in baseball management. This latter action it is believed, would result in a baseball war.

Johnson Refuses to Talk.

While President Johnson tonight would make no statement, his friends expressed the opinion that the club owners would agree to take part in the November 8 conference. If this is done, it is believed Johnson and his followers will present a counter proposition for reorganization which will contain the principles of the "Lasker plan," favored by the eleven other magnates, but with several changes in the administration of the plan. Such action, it is believed, would avert a baseball war, unless it was found impossible to reach an agreement at the final conference in November.

Refusal to enter into negotiations for a change in the control of the game, however, probably would bring about a clash, it is believed, for the eleven magnates who already have gone on record as favoring the Lasker plan for a "civilian tribunal" as the controlling body, have issued an ultimatum that unless the other clubs join them they will form a twelve club league without the five American League clubs which back Johnson.

Such action, it was believed, might result in court action. Friends of President Johnson point out that the "twenty year contract" signed by the American League clubs in 1910 and effective until 1930, provide that the clubs must all stick together and for any club to join a new league would be in violation of this contract. It is also pointed out that a club can be expelled from the league by a three-fourths vote. President Johnson holds that this rule means three-fourths of those present at a meeting, and that consequently he and his five clubs could expel the other clubs at the meeting tomorrow if they so desired.

Expect Peace.

The sentiment tonight, however, seemed to be that all would be peaceful tomorrow.

None of the magnates who have not joined in the proposed plan for reorganization has expressed opposition to it. Several have said they favored reorganization of some kind when taken up at a "regularly called meeting of the league, in accordance with the league's constitution, maintaining that the previous conference was not of that nature.

President Johnson and Alfred Austrian, attorney for the Chicago American League club, which has opposed Johnson in administration of the league's affairs, met accidentally a few days ago in the chambers of Judge Charles A. McDonald, in charge of the baseball grand jury and it is said that they discussed baseball reorganization at length.

While neither would comment officially on the meeting it was said that they had not found their views fundamentally different.

No Action to Be Taken.

Another possibility is that the club's meeting tomorrow will request that no action be taken by either league until the Cook county grand jury which has just completed a five weeks' investigation of baseball gambling, makes its report. The jury has voted true bills against thirteen men and is preparing to have them brought here for trial. It will hold its final session tomorrow, but it is not believed the report will be ready before next week.

This report is expected to make recommendations concerning future administration of professional baseball leagues' affairs.

President Johnson, when he refused to enter into the conference of eight national and three American league clubs said he thought it not advisable to take action then, "because of sensational evidence" he expected the jury to receive later. The jury has finished its active session, but it is thought the American league president may still think it advisable to postpone action until the report is made. Such a decision would not, it is believed, prevent the clubs from deciding tomorrow to meet with the others November 8.

City Basketball Quintet to Hold Practice Tuesday

Preliminary practice for the Fresno city basketball team will be held Tuesday night, November 2, from 7:15 to 9:15 at the high school gymnasium. It was announced yesterday by Louis Battersby, temporary chairman of the proposed organization. Practice thereafter will be held every Tuesday and Thursday nights at the same hour and place.

It is urged that all former basketball players attend the practicement, as it is planned to put a winning team in Fresno. It was stated yesterday that games will be arranged with teams around the bay and that the first game will probably be played before the holidays.

For early practice, players are requested to bring their own suits. It was reported in this city yesterday that a number of the valley towns have started plans to organize teams, and it is expected that a valley league will be formed later.

Fruit Belt Stars to Start 3 Game Series on Sunday

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 28.—Opening Sunday a team of All Stars, made up of local players, will play the first of a three game series with the Wasco champions of the Kern Fruit Belt baseball circuit. Roy Newell, deputy sheriff, has lined up the following to go against the northern champions: Nerone—1b; Arnett, 2b; Newell, 3b; Duffin, ss; Taylor, lf; Percy Barrett, cf; Ray Hoskings, rf; Jimmy Johnston, c.

Many local fans are planning to visit the scene of the conflict at Wasco next Sunday, and the Wasco diamond is reported to be in excellent condition. The Wasco nine, champions of the Kern County Fruit Belt League, will have a strong lineup on hand and according to advance notices, the game will be a thrilling affair.

Deputy Sheriffs Roy Newell and Bill Taylor are old time twirlers, and Clarin played on the Elks team during the summer.

MINORS REFUSE TO JOIN WITH MAJOR LEAGUES

Will Not Recognize New Lasker Plan Unless Changes Made

Several Conferences Held to Oppose New Plan

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The minor leagues will refuse to become a party to the reorganization of baseball under the proposed Lasker plan, unless radical changes are made in the scheme, it was learned here today. Minor league officials, have been investigating the Lasker plan for the appointment of a new national commission, claim the system provides for government without representation and restriction of the draft which the minors have been fighting for years.

Several conferences have been held and it has been informally decided to oppose the plan unless it is altered before offered to the minor leagues at their annual meeting next month. It is contended that under the Lasker system the minor leagues, which control more players and territory and have more money invested in baseball than the majors, are literally without voice in the proposed government of the game, regardless of their apparent right of representation on the commission.

This claim is based in part upon a portion of the resolutions adopted by the major league clubs in favor of the plan which reads:

"That this board of control and its chairman shall be selected by a majority vote of the clubs of the National League and the clubs of the American League which shall on or before November 15, 1920 have signified their acquiescence in the plan provided in these resolutions, at a meeting thereby called to be held in Chicago November 8, 1920."

According to a prominent western minor leaguer the plan as disclosed during an informal conference between the major league club president and himself, requires the minors to accept a representative on the commission already selected by the majors. While it was intimated that the minors must accept this representative there was a flat refusal to name either the major league prospective representative or the chairman of the commission, he said.

When the matter was called to the attention of President David D. Foltz of the new International League, he said:

"The Lasker plan contains the same fundamental error of government as the one upon which the national agreement rode to its fall. It provides that minor as well as major leagues shall be controlled by a board of three men who are to be chosen solely by the major leagues.

"The Lasker plan provides that the board is to be composed of men of national repute, in no wise financially interested in baseball, whose salaries are to be paid from the receipts of the world series. The greater the 'national repute' of the men selected, the less they will know about the legislation, the customs and the traditions of the game and the peculiarities of the players and owners. These men, being in a strange position, will necessarily have to seek advisers. Can there be any doubt that these advisers will be the men who select them and pay their salaries?

"The Lasker plan insofar as it affects the minor leagues does not ring true. If the majors wish to re-establish relations with the minors, they must 'come clean' and submit some proposition which gives us full control of our own affairs and an equal control of our relations with them."

Abe Attell Says He Will Return to U. S.

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—Abe Attell, former pugilist, mixed in connection with the 1919 baseball scandal, will return to the United States voluntarily and give testimony, he said tonight.

"When I am ready," Attell says, "I will go back of my own free will and tell all I know."

Baseball Probe to Be Resumed Today

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—Investigation of charges that games of the Pacific Coast league were "fixed" in 1919 will be resumed Monday by the Los Angeles county grand jury Monday, according to plans announced by Deputy District Attorney Frank W. Stafford. The jury adjourned yesterday for the week after hearing testimony by W. H. McCarthy, league president; John F. Powers, owner of the Los Angeles club and Ralph Stroud, Salt Lake pitcher.

Bobby Keene Boxes Kid Rusty Draw

RIPON, Oct. 28.—Bobby Keene of Fresno, substituting for Johnny Cline, fought four fast rounds to a draw with Kid Rusty, a likely boy of this city, in the main event of a boxing show held here last night. Keene fought a hard fight and according to ringside fans should have had the decision. Five other bouts completed the card.

GOLF OFFICIALS HOLD MEETING

New Playing Rules Governing Ball Are Adopted

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Directors of the Western Golf Association have adopted general rules on the cleaning of golf balls on putting greens, the playing of a ball from an extraneous green and for the lifting of a ball embedded in mud, it was announced today by Assistant Secretary Urwin W. Higgins. The directors also retained the western stymie rule but voted to adopt the new rules of the United Golf Association regarding a lost ball, a ball out of bounds and an unplayable lie. These new rules provide for loss of a stroke and the distance in all three instances, whereas the previous law was loss of distance only for a ball out of bounds and the loss of two strokes in medal—and the hole in match for an unplayable lie. A lost ball penalty was the same as now.

The new western association rules have been common as local rules on many courses and had been used at western tournaments.

They are now in force for play at all clubs of the association at times when conditions were deemed to demand them. They are:

"When a ball is at rest on the putting green, if there be mud or other substance adhering to the ball, it may be lifted, cleaned and then replaced without penalty: Provided such act be done with the knowledge of an opponent or other competitor.

"A ball embedded in soft mud except in a recognized water hazard, shall be deemed to be in casual water. (In such a case it may be lifted without penalty and dropped not nearer the hole.)

"If the ball be played on to a putting green other than that of the hole being played, the ball shall be lifted and placed off such green, as near as possible to the place where the ball lay, but not nearer the hole without penalty."

The stymie rule of the Western Golf Association, which differs from the U. S. G. A. rule, which does not abolish stymies when laid by one's self, follows:

"When both balls are on the putting green, if the player of the ball farthest from the hole claims that the nearer ball interferes with his putt, the nearer ball upon request shall be lifted or played at the option of the owner."

This rule has been in effect for three years, while the U. S. G. A. rule was made effective on September 1, this year.

BOXING ON NEW BASIS IN MASS.

Public Can Attend Shows Without Joining Club

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Boxing is on a new basis in Massachusetts. For the first time in a quarter-century professional matches are open to public participation under legal sanction, and it is no longer necessary for a man who wishes to see a bout to first join a club over the meetings of which referees have been the moderators and boxers the only members who had the floor. The familiar announcement in introducing fighters that "both are members of this club" is heard no more.

New Boxing Commission.

The new order of things is the result of a law establishing a state boxing commission, and stipulating some of the conditions under which the sport must be conducted. These provide for ten round bouts, the rounds of three minutes each, to be conducted by clubs licensed by the commission under bonds of $5,000. Decisions are given by a referee and two judges, licensed by the commission.

The members of the board, four days after their appointment, laid down supplementary regulations under which each judge is required to write and sign his decision and the referee decides if they disagree. Under the commission's rules there can be no draw.

Every person connected with a bout must be licensed, physician, referee, judge, time-keeper, boxer, manager, trainer or second. The physician is required to examine the contestants three hours before the bout and to certify in writing that each boxer is physically fit. Licenses bear a photograph of the boxers, with the idea of preventing impersonations.

Referees and judges are assigned by the commission to authorize bouts and their identity to promoters, boxers or spectators is not known until they take their place at the ringside. This is a further check against fraudulent collusion. Under the law the commissioners have authority similar to that of city councils to require the testimony of witnesses on all matters within their jurisdiction.

Women, who have seen bouts in this city previously only in male disguise, are now allowed equal privileges with male followers of the sport, and at the first of the bouts under the new law a femininity was sprinkled throughout the arena. Gambling has been prohibited and seconds ordered to desist from objectionable tactics in support of their principles.

Olympic Rugby Team Arrives From Europe

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The 12 members of the American Olympic rugby football team returned today on the army transport Northern Pacific.

On August 5 the team played against the French at Antwerp and won, 8 to 0. Then they toured France and played four more games, winning three. The team was captained by C. K. Tilden of the University of California and coached by Daniel V. Carroll.

Goozeman to Meet Spencer Tonight at Bakersfield

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 28.—Ernie Goozeman and George Spencer will be the headliners in the boxing bouts at the Doyle stadium here tomorrow night. Spencer has met the best fighters along the coast, and has made a fine record for himself around San Francisco. Goozeman is probably the best opponent Spencer could have, and carries a long list of victories to his credit.

Spencer and Goozeman met recently in the semi-windup of a Vernon program and fought like wildcats every step of the way. The battle was the hit of the show and resulted in a draw. Spencer has boxed two draws with Bud Ridley, and two with Danny Kramer, who knocked out Billy Alvarez and Dixie Kid in the local arena last summer.

Bert Meyers of San Francisco and Fred Young will appear in the semi-windup. Young is often seen on the local cards and is a hard man to hit. Wildcat O'Brien and Ike Smith will stage another of their sensational battles which promises to exceed for thrills their encounter of two weeks ago.

"Buzz" Arlett Will Hurl For Modesto Against All Stars

MODESTO, Oct. 28.—"Buzz" Arlett, pitcher with the Oakland Coast League club, will appear on the mound for the Modesto Reds when they face Casey Stengel's All-Star National League club here at the Reds' park on November 1.

Arlett will have around him many other players already familiar sights in a Red uniform. "Lefty" Golvin, first baseman for the Mobile club in the Southern Association and former Reed player, will be on first; Westmoreland at second; Walter Keeley at short, Johnnie Kerr of Merced at third and Shaw, Hemminger and Pike in the outfield.

It had been hoped that Walter Schmidt of the Pittsburg Pirates, one of the all-star players and a resident of Modesto, would be behind the bat for the locals, but he is slated to receive for the Stengel team that day due to a shortage of receivers. An effort will be made to secure either Nonus Mitze of Oakland or some other good coast league catcher for the game.

DINUBA TO MEET REEDLEY SUNDAY

Legion Teams to Battle in Second League Contest

DINUBA, Oct. 28.—The Alta post of the American Legion at Dinuba, is rounding its football squad into excellent shape for Sunday's game with the Reedley post. Captain Nuss has been spending the week putting the men into the pink of condition for the struggle, and expects to record another win.

Fresh from their smashing victory over Madera last Sunday in the first league game, the team has a strong reliance in its ability to repeat. The Alta post has one of the strongest aggregations formed here in years, and it will only take a few good games to weld it into a smooth running machine.

Cleveland, at left half-back, played three years on the All State team of Arkansas. Tout, at right half back, and Gregory, at full back, have a reputation from last year's high school team, when they helped Dinuba to the championship of the San Joaquin valley.

Captain Nuss is also a former crack quarter of Dinuba high, while Greene, Snow and several of the other players hail from the same school.

The intense rivalry which has always existed between the cities of Dinuba and Reedley, particularly as pertains to things athletic, is making more than ordinary interest in the contest.

BOXING EXHIBITION

REEDLEY, Oct. 28.—The Reedley Post of the American Legion will give a free boxing exhibition at the Y. M. C. A. athletic grounds Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Bakersfield High After Game With Sacramento Team

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 28.—Bakersfield high school is arranging a football game here with Sacramento high school, according to Coach D. M. Griffith.

There is little likelihood that Bakersfield will give Fresno a game at Fresno, especially after the action of Fresno in joining Reedley and Selma in abandoning the interscholastic league schedule with Bakersfield. The locale also are looking for strong teams that can cope with them on the gridiron.

Next Saturday Bakersfield will play U. S. southern branch freshmen at Los Angeles. Earlier in the season Bakersfield won from this team 25 to 0.

The Bakersfield team is one of the strongest in years, according to its admirers and has a good chance for the state high school championship.

Many Turn Out For Boxing at Stanford

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Oct. 28.—One hundred and forty-five men have turned out for boxing and wrestling at Stanford University, according to Trainer Harry Maloney. Several of last year's stars are back and Maloney expects to send winning teams into intercollegiate boxing and wrestling matches. Interclass contests will be held before outside competition is scheduled.

EXCEED LAST YEAR'S ENTRIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Entries for the national horse show at Madison Square Garden this year have exceeded those of any year since 1913, it was learned today, necessitating an extension of dates for the judging of the new classes. The show opens November 15. There are 1,824 entries—285 more than last year.

BARROWS JOINS NEW YORK YANKS

Will Become Business Manager; Huggins to Sign

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Colonel Jacob Ruppert, part owner of the New York American league club today announced Edward G. Barrows, who resigned as manager of the Boston Americans two days ago, had signed as business manager of the Yankees.

Millar Huggins will sign a contract to manage the New York team another year upon his arrival tomorrow, Colonel Ruppert added. Barrow had been with the Red Sox three years and previously was president of the International League for seven years.

Change a Surprise

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—The announcement that Edward G. Barrow had resigned as field manager of the Red Sox to become business manager of the New York Americans came as a surprise to the supporters of the team. Speculation as to his successor ran a wide field. President H. H. Frazee, over the telephone from New York, said he had two or three men in mind. The club carries on its rolls "Bill" Carrigan, manager of the world champions of 1915 and 1916, now a banker and promoter of Lewiston, Maine, whom Frazee has previously endeavored to bring back to the game. "Jack" Barry, who succeeded Carrigan as manager of the Red Sox, relinquishing the position to join the navy, is in the garage business at Worcester and is considered available. Harry Hooper, crack outfielder and captain of the present Reds' team is believed to be among those under consideration.

Fowler to Meet Selma Saturday

FOWLER, Oct. 28.—The second league football game for the local high school team will be played with Selma high school at the Fowler field Saturday afternoon. Much interest centers in this game, especially since Fowler's defeat of Fresno in a close game, the first league game of the season.

Fowler and Selma played a good practice game a short time ago in which Fowler was defeated.

It is thought that the game Saturday will by no means be a one sided affair. From the games already played it appears the teams are fairly well matched.

Johnny Evers Will Pilot Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Johnny Evers will manage the Chicago Nationals next season, it was announced today by William Veeck, president of the club. Evers will succeed Fred Mitchell and is expected to arrive in Chicago in a short time. He now is in Cuba with the New York Giants.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Selling for both accounts, in which short interests probably predominated, caused severe depreciation of specialty values and stock exchange today. The reversal encompassed every important division of the list.

The reaction was accompanied by the largest transaction since the early days of the month, totalling about 900,000 shares. Some of the more popular issues rallied substantially on profit taking in the later dealings, but the loss at the close was irregular to heavy.

There were no developments to account for the slump other than those which have done service since the period of deflation began; namely the money stringency and additional steps of backwardness in commerce and industry. For investments however, the outlook remains plentiful. This was evidenced by the over-subscriptions in new capital underwritings.

Money rates were unchanged, the bulk of the day's call loans being made on a 7 per cent basis, rising to 8 per cent in the final hour, when a sum apparently approximating $20,000,000 was in demand.

The one hopeful incident of the day—virtual settlement of the British coal strike was utterly ignored, not only by that stock market, but by foreign exchanges as well. The London rate fell eleven and one-half cents under yesterday's best quotation and new points of discount were recorded in remittances to continental Europe.

Oils, steels, equipments, sugars, motors, and numerous Allied specialties bore the brunt of the break, but rails were relatively steady, a brisk advance in Southern Pacific being the final feature.

All domestic and foreign issues in the bond market, including the Liberty group were irregular, a few including the heaviness. Total sales, par value, $15,750,000. Old U. S. bonds were unchanged.

Four Schools of County Closed For Lack of Teachers

Four rural schools of Fresno county are closed solely on account of the inability to obtain teachers, the office of County Superintendent Clarence Edwards announced yesterday. The schools affected by the shortage of instructors are Mechanicsville, Pine Grove, Millerton, and Cantua.

Although every effort was made to line-up a sufficient teaching staff before the opening of the fall semester the four districts were unsuccessful. Inability of the districts to pay a sufficient wage is given as the reason.

Miss Mildred Hicks, for two years a deputy in the school department, has resigned and Miss Maude E. Burnett, teacher at the Washington grammar school, has been appointed as her successor.

HIGH ANNEX IS GREAT RISK ON ACCOUNT FIRE

Report of Fire Chief Shows Conditions in All Schools

Commission in Favor of Additional Policemen

Training of pupils in the various city schools for fire emergencies is given particular attention in the monthly report of Fire Chief Berkhuhn, which was considered yesterday by the police and fire commission at its monthly meeting. In his report on fire drills the fire chief told the commission that the high school annex is a "great risk."

That portion of the chief's report bearing on fire drills among the schools follows:

Webster—700 pupils; time in clearing building one minute, ten seconds; conditions and discipline good.

High School—1,500 pupils; time in clearing building, three minutes and twenty seconds; alarm system in very poor shape; recommend immediate repairs; pupils take very little interest in fire drill and are exceptionally slow.

Jefferson—800 pupils; time in clearing building, one minute, twenty-five seconds; this could be improved by rearranging the line of march.

Kirk—650 pupils; time in clearing building 44 seconds; recommend extending alarm bell to take care of lower section.

Lincoln—1,020 pupils; time in clearing new building one minute, ten seconds; time in clearing—old building, one minute, fifteen seconds; recommend electric alarm system connecting both buildings.

Parental School — three classes; time for clearing building 44 seconds; very good—considering exits from school.

Columbia—1,020 pupils; time in clearing building one minute, ten seconds; pupils too hasty in old building; hall on second floor out of order in new building.

Lowell—600 pupils; time in clearing building in new section one minute, seven seconds; in old section, one minute, three seconds; pupils very orderly; recommend electric alarm system.

Emerson—800 pupils; time in clearing building, one minute fifteen seconds; recommend electric system to be operated from principals office to connect with both buildings.

Longfellow—670 pupils; time in clearing building, one minute, fifty-two seconds; good alarm system; is poorly worked and in need of repairs.

High School Annex—135 elementary pupils and some high school pupils; this building a great risk; there seems to be no understanding between pupils on fire drills.

Hawthorne—500 pupils; time in clearing building, one minute, ten seconds; conduct and discipline good.

The commission officially recommended to the board of trustees that two inspectors and two traffic men be instituted to the police force, together with a Spanish interpreter.

Upon the report of the city attorney that he had taken samples of "bitters" to the Twining laboratory for analysis during the recent police drive against these alleged booze products, the board approved the action.

STRIKE VOTE ON BARBER DEMAND

Trend of Prices Down, Master Barbers Tell Workers

Fresno may go unshaven and unshorn unless an agreement is reached tonight between boss barbers and chair men. The barbers will decide tonight whether to accept a minimum of $28 per week and 60 per cent over $40 or to walk out of the shops of the city.

On the matter of closing hours, it was stated last night, an agreement has been reached under which the shops will close at 6 o'clock during five days of the week and at 9 o'clock on Saturday.

The following statement, addressed to the union, was given out for publication last night by the boss barbers:

"To the Honorable Body,
"J. B. S. U. of A.
"Gentlemen:

"In reply to your communication of the 25th instant, we, the barber shop proprietors of Fresno, under jurisdiction of Local 333, J. B. S. U. of A., have come to the following decision, in which we are unanimous:

"That your demand for $36 and 60 per cent over $40 would mean that we would have to increase our prices, which would not be in fairness to the public since it is the trend of the times for prices to lower instead of increase.

"Therefore, we stand by our former agreement that we pay local union barbers $25 and 50 per cent over $40.

"CHAS. P. HOLMES, Chairman.
"J. T. BONNESEN, Secretary."

The barbers, it is stated, demanded an increase from a minimum of $22 to $36 per week, with an increase from $30 per cent over $30 to 50 per cent over $40. The boss barbers met this with a compromise offer, it is said, of $25 per week minimum, and 60 per cent over $40. This is the offer upon which strike vote will be taken tonight.

Jail Sentence For Vendor of Liquor

Mike Pappas, charged with violating the city liquor ordinance, pleaded guilty and was given an alternate sentence of either 90 days in jail or a $300 fine. He was sent to jail, upon failing to pay the fine.

CAMP WARNER CLUB TO MEET

The Camp Warner Club will hold a meeting on Monday evening at 7:30 by the call of the president, Dr. Nell Clark, in the Y. W. C. A. building. Everyone who has ever been at the summer camp of the association is invited to attend.

JAPAN TO RULE SOUTH SEA ISLES

Governor to be Named to Provide Thorough Plan of Government

TOKYO, Oct. 28.—The 700 islands of varying size in the South Sea group for which Japan obtained mandatory rights at the peace conference will have a Japanese governor and a thorough system of administration.

The governor at present will remain under the direction of the navy, which has been in control of the islands since their acquisition five years ago. It is possible that later all connections between the navy and the islands will be severed.

The League of Nations Council in November is expected to work out a detailed scheme for the application of the principle of trusteeship by which Japan retains her control.

The idea involved in enlarging the scope of civil administration is to establish three distinct administrative sections of domestic affairs, colonial affairs and police affairs.
